

The French Quarter

There is a lot more to New Orleans than The Quarter, but you can't leave New Orleans without visiting it. A suggested walking tour is shown in the map below.

From the Hotel entrance, turn right on St. Charles Street. On the other side of Canal Street, it becomes Royal Street. Royal Street has many antique and jewelry shops. Continue until St. Peter Street, then go left and see the Cathedral and Jackson Square. Walk around the square and go up St. Ann Street to Bourbon Street (famous Bourbon Street). You can turn left on Bourbon Street back to Canal Street; left on Canal one block and then right on St. Charles Street to return to the Hotel. This is a total of 1.9 miles (3.0 km). Alternatively, rather than going up to Bourbon Street, you can continue on St. Peter Street across Decatur Street, go to the river. Then, return along the River to Canal Street and go up Canal to St. Charles, turning left and to get back to the Hotel.
