Protecting the world's coasts, oceans, ports, waterways, and wetlands is your specialty...

Giving you the knowledge to do it is ours.

Today, everyone is concerned about the future of the world's coasts, oceans, ports, waterways and wetlands. We know it's more than just a concern for you – it's your career. That's why the Coasts, Oceans, Ports, and Rivers Institute (COPRI) advances the scientific and engineering knowledge that our more than 3,950 members use to improve and build sustainable coastal, ocean, port, and riverine communities.

Here are just a few ways you benefit from being a COPRI member at any stage of your career:

- >> Unrivaled opportunities to meet new professional peers with more than 3,950 members
- >> Up-to-date information on new technologies and emerging trends
- >> Opportunities to build a professional reputation and credentials
- >> Tailored professional development programs – offered at significant discounts – to fit your specific career goals
- >> Leadership opportunities at the national and local level

Commitment to your career and profession.

From start...to finish.

Early Career —
